

Junior Software Developer

We are looking for several Junior Software Developers motivated to learn new skills and technologies to join our team in Čakovec or Zagreb. To apply, please send your CV to info@end2end.hr

Who Are We?

END2END is a company that specializes in information system design and development using latest technologies. We have extensive experience in project management, optimization and automation of the business processes as well as broad understanding of implementation and integration of complex systems.

Our team consists of highly educated and skilled professionals with years of experience in project management, development and implementation of highly available services and IT systems with a focus on the telecommunications and banking industry.

Who are we looking for?

- Basic knowledge of web technologies (HTML, CSS, JavaScript)
- Basic knowledge of relational databases and SQL
- Practical experience working in one of the following programming languages (C#, Java, PHP, Python, etc.)

Good to have, but not necessary

- Background in Software Development and/or Computer Science
- Understanding of RESTful Web Service technologies such as JSON
- Understanding of object-oriented programming
- Experience with one of the following web technologies: Angular, React, Bootstrap, Vue.js
- Experience working with BPM (Business Process Management) tools

What do we offer?

- Good work-life balance
- Productive atmosphere
- Learning and development opportunities
- Growth opportunities
- Paid education and certifications
- Sponsored health checks
- Performance-related bonus